President Walker Gets Reports of the Tragedy

President Walker, of the Old Dominion line, who reached Washington late last night from New York, where he has his headquarters, was awakened by a telephone call from Norfolk early this morning, which reported in a few words the collision between the Monree and the Nantucket. This was the first official report of the trouble. "I immediately ordered our Norfolk offices," said Mr. Walker, "to make public any and all news of the disaster that reached there. This is the first time in the history of our line, which was founded in 1867, that we have ever lost a passenger. The collision which sank the Monroe must have been sudden and terrific The Monroe's saving equipment was 100 per cent affi-

Five Blondes Accused In Wife's Complaint

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Five blondes are accused of breaking up the once happy home of Marshall Francis Oliver, architect, of 40 Gramercy Park, New York, Mrs. Oliver says she knows all about the five blondes and had witnesses in supreme court who told of her husband's entertainment in an east side hotel usually not frequented by persons of Mr. Oliver's standing.

Mrs. Oliver asked for an absolute divorce and the custody of her children and no defense was offered by the husband. mrs. Oliver thought $15 a week would be sufficient to support her children and Justice Blanchard said he would consider the case, but was inclined to give her the custody of the children and

"Suffragists Stern," and "Antis Sweet of Face"

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Richard Barn-well, of Highland Park, N. J., sergeant-at-arms in the assembly, Trenton, had the busiest afternoon of his life when the proposed amendment to the constitution extending suffrage to women was up for hearing. He said: "I had many pretty women in charge. For years, while his fellow prisoners read novels, Gideon has been poring through the law books found in the prison library.

I had many pretty women in charge. It was easy to tell the antis from the suffragists. All of the sweet-faced young women were antis. The older ones, with the stern look, were suffragists."

We Span the High Cost of Living

The numerous civic societies which are being formed for this purpose are almost universally advising "combined buying" as a remedy for the high cost of living situation. This has always been the policy of the SANITARY GROCERY STORES. Each of our 32 stores offers an example of the successful result of united effort to REDUCE THE COST OF I VING. The distinct money saving on high-grade Groceries and Provisions made possible by our low prices, result from the advantage of "combine buying" which our stores have over our "one-store" competitors.
